

Today, along with thousands of other students across the country, I'm donating 60 seconds of this speech to take a pledge for our future.

In the next four years, 17 million of us will be eligible to vote. That makes Generation Z this country's largest swing state. Not red, not blue, but human. And together, we have the power to shape the world we want to live in.

So, today I'm pledging to vote on three basic human rights:
equality across race, gender and sexual orientation,
safety from gun violence,
and action on climate change.

If you care about the world we're inheriting, I urge you to take the pledge with me.

Together, we can create a healthier, safer, brighter America. We're the adults now.

Donating:60 at your graduation? It's simple. Just follow these steps...

Prepare

You all are smart. That's why you're speaking at your graduation. Be sure to think ahead about how you'll include the donate:60 pledge in your speech. Feel free to tweak it and change it, but remember that the strength of this campaign comes from the unity of the collective voice of the class of 2018.

Speak

This is it. You're a part of a nationwide campaign that's building a better future for our generation. Be proud. Tell everyone. Think about who you're doing this for. It's up to us to take charge of our future.

Make sure that your classmates can get involved! They can participate as a group by tagging their grad photo with the pledge. Just tell them to go to donate-60.org to sign up.

Record

Get a friend, a teacher, or a parent to film your 60-second pledge on a smartphone. You can livestream it to our facebook page or post it after the fact. It doesn't have to be perfect quality or crystal clear audio. We just want to see you up there on stage fighting for what you believe in.

Post

Post your speech on Instagram, Twitter and Facebook with the hashtags #donate60seconds and #WeAretheAdultsNow. Afterward, post your grad picture with the pledge as a caption, and ask your classmates to do the same with the same hashtags. Be sure your posts are public.

Have only a few minutes total? No problem! Here's a quick way to deliver the message.

Today, along with hundreds of first-time voters across the country, I'm donating 15 seconds of this speech to take a pledge to vote on three basic human rights: equality, safety from gun violence, and action on climate change. Students, if you want to build a better future, take the pledge with me. We're the adults now.
